

In January of 2007, twenty students from MIT, Poland, and Mexico participated in one week of hands-on repair and rebuilding hurricane damaged housing on the bayous of Louisiana, followed by one week of design and construction of housing elements for the on-going "Lift House" project.

SIGUS

sigus@mit.edu

Houma, Louisiana

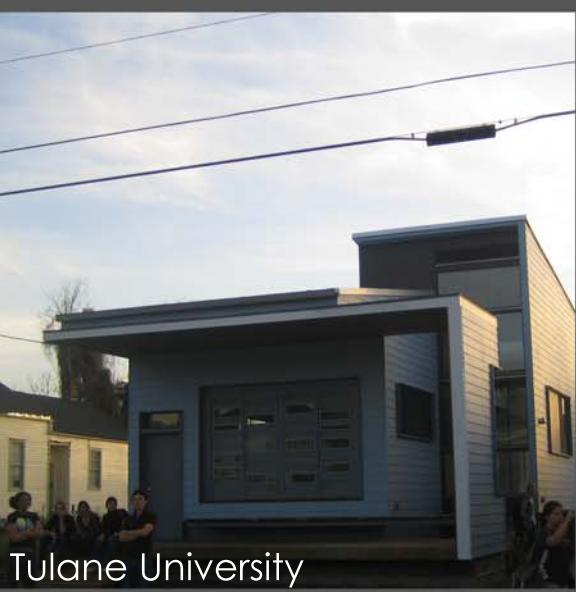

Louisiana Lift House Project Sweat! Design! Build! Workshop

Houma, Louisiana
January 2007

Damage

SIGUS sigus@mit.edu

Habitat for Humanity

Tulane University

Louisiana State University

Louisiana Lift House Project
Sweat! Design! Build! Workshop

Houma, Louisiana
January 2007

Habitat for Humanity

SIGUS sigus@mit.edu

Projects international aid

SIGUS sigus@mit.edu

Louisiana Lift House Project
Sweat! Design! Build! Workshop

Houma, Louisiana
January 2007

The Bayous

concept sketch

previous home

Ms. Betty Jane Adams, proud owner of the first Lift House

Louisiana Lift House Project
Sweat! Design! Build! Workshop

Houma, Louisiana
January 2007

SIGUS sigus@mit.edu

Lift House sustainable housing

Louisiana Lift House Project Sweat! Design! Build! Workshop

Houma, Louisiana
January 2007

SIGUS sigus@mit.edu

The Volunteer Camp

SIGUS sigus@mit.edu

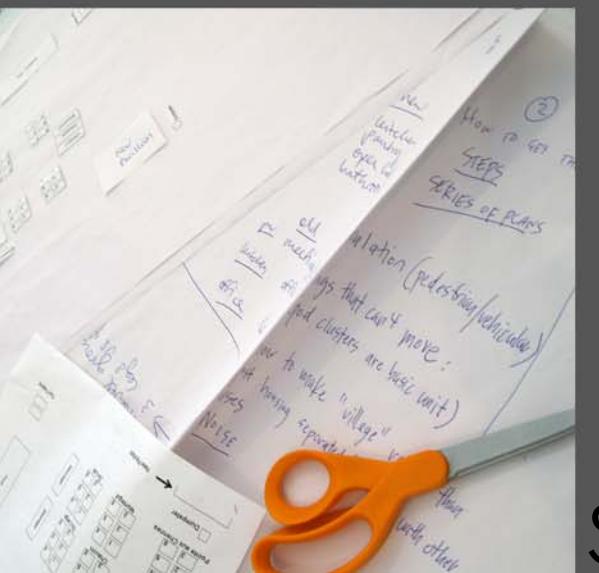

Louisiana Lift House Project
Sweat! Design! Build! Workshop

Houma, Louisiana
January 2007

Sweat! reconstruction

Louisiana Lift House Project Sweat! Design! Build! Workshop

Houma, Louisiana
January 2007

SIGUS sigus@mit.edu

Designed! new solutions

Louisiana Lift House Project
Sweat! Design! Build! Workshop

Houma, Louisiana
January 2007

SIGUS sigus@mit.edu

Built! sinks and covering

Louisiana Lift House Project Sweat! Design! Build! Workshop

Louisiana Lift House Project Sweat! Design! Build! Workshop

Houma, Louisiana
January 2007

SIGUS sigus@mit.edu

Built! railing and trellis

Louisiana Lift House Project Sweat! Design! Build! Workshop

SIGUS sigus@mit.edu

Houma, Louisiana
January 2007

Built! storm shutters